

CONTRACT

This is a legally binding contact which states you agree to being a “Lab Rat” in our very real and intellectually researched scientific experiment TALK at Warwick Arts Centre.

You agree to turn up at Warwick Arts Centre on the 8th October in advance of your allotted start time.

[Please choose from the selection below]

1pm, 1:20pm, 1:40pm, 2pm, 2:20pm, 2:40pm
7pm, 7:20pm, 7:40pm, 8pm, 8:20pm, 8:40pm, 9pm

Late comers may be punished by death or by not being allowed entry.

Upon arrival you consent to taking part in all of our experiments and you guarantee that you will smile and laugh throughout them even if you are having a terrible time. You also agree to talking to an actual human being throughout the experiment – even if they turn out to be your mortal enemy.

In return, the Kill The Cat Science team agree to provide such prompts and activities that spending time with another human being will be no hardship.

You accept that by taking part in the experiments you may experience such a profound social awakening and an appreciation of life itself and what it means to be a human that you might be a changed and transformed person, that is completely unrecognisable to the shell of who you were before you went in.

Kill The Cat Science will accept no responsibility for how your friends, family, acquaintances or loved ones react to this new improved you.

We also accept no responsibility for any injury, death or maiming by dragon that you may sustain during our experiments.

Please be kind to our scientists who are simply failed actors trying to get over rejection– so please show them a bit of attention so that they go home happy. Any abuse to our scientists will lead to termination of this contract and you will be ejected out of the space.

By signing this contract you also agree to give us one of your kidneys.
